Description

Nestled along the picturesque Garston Old Road in the sought-after Cressington, L19, this exceptional Grade II listed terraced house stands proudly in a row of seven unique properties, rarely available in the area. Brought to the market by Atlas Estate Agents, this charming home, built in 1852, is steeped in character, offering a wealth of original Victorian features that blend timeless elegance with the opportunity for modern refurbishment.

Spanning an impressive four floors, the property boasts five bright and spacious bedrooms, some of which feature sash windows and a wrought iron balcony, allowing for an abundance of natural light and lovely views of the surrounding area. The property also includes three generous reception rooms, each adorned with stunning period features such as original fireplaces, ceiling coving, and quarry tile flooring. The large sash windows offer an authentic touch, while the original shutters in the main living room provide a glimpse into the home's historical charm.

At the heart of the home is a fitted kitchen, complemented by an adjoining pantry area for additional storage. The property also benefits from two well-appointed bathrooms – a convenient ground-floor shower room and a fully tiled family bathroom featuring a bath with an overhead shower.

Outside, the extensive rear garden offers a peaceful retreat with a patio area, perfect for outdoor dining and relaxation. The front driveway provides ample parking, a rare convenience for properties of this age.

Offered with no onward chain, this mid-terrace property presents an exciting opportunity to add value through sympathetic refurbishment, making it the ideal project for those seeking to craft their dream home while preserving its historic charm.

With its enviable location, just a short walk from Cressington Station, this home is perfectly positioned close to a wealth of local amenities, excellent transport links, and outstanding primary schools, making it ideal for families and commuters alike.

This captivating Victorian home awaits a discerning buyer ready to restore and enhance its timeless appeal.
